

The main thread will generate rand vector and then it will print them on the file.

After a structure creation and a sem initialization the main process will create 2 thread. After the start of an infinite loop it will signal semaphotre in order to correct manage the behavior required.